

The Thomas Hardy School

EXAM INVIGILATORS REQUIRED

- Are you free during the months of May and June?
- Would you like to earn some extra money while helping your local school?
- Have you ever considered being an exam invigilator?

If so, you are invited to our pop-in session with the exams team and a few of our existing invigilators for a casual chat.

We are seeking individuals who can promote a calm and supportive atmosphere for our students so that they achieve their best. Experience in invigilating or working within an educational setting is preferred, however we will also consider applications from those with no previous experience, but who are good at interpreting lists, following written guidance and are prepared to take on responsibility. Training is provided for all invigilators every year.

Work is paid by the hour, currently £9.62 (+12% = £10.77) and is based around school hours; the role is suited to all members of the community. You would need to be available most school days in May and June (we will let you know the actual days you are working several weeks before).

If you are interested, we would love to see you at our Meet and Greet to chat about the role with likeminded people whilst enjoying a coffee and mince pie. Application forms will be available on the day by those who feel inspired to apply!

Meet and Greet

Thursday 2nd December 10-11am

It is essential that you email exams@thomas-hardye.net to let us know that you will be coming along so that we can monitor numbers and make the necessary arrangements.

We regret that we are unable to accept applications from immediate family members of students sitting exams in our school in 2022.
